Stay oriented: Getting there by car

Because traffic is expected to be very heavy during the fair, we recommend paying attention to the electronic traffic guidance systems and traffic signs. They will show you the best way to get to the trade-fair center from the city and from the A99 and A94 motorways. So please follow these signs and not your navigation system's directions.

Great parking: Increased capacities

To ensure that you find a parking spot as quickly and easily as possible, we now have additional remote parking including a shuttle service. On Saturday during the fair, you can also park your car at the Allianz Arena. In that case, parking and the shuttle bus are free of charge. Details about prices, parking-lot maps, etc. are available at: www.bauma.de/parking

Interesting platforms for valuable encounters

Industry gathering: Mining A focal point with increasing appeal

The topic of mining became its own exhibition sector for the first time in 2004. By 2010, the exhibition categories for mining and raw-materials extraction and processing had more than 600 exhibitors from 31 countries. That is why this is such an important business platform for the mining industry—with outstanding opportunities for networking and interesting business prospects.

Profit from the growing number of exhibitors and the increasingly international range of exhibits.

bauma Forum: For an inspiring exchange

The 2013 bauma Forum will fill the mining sector with additional life and ensure a lively exchange of ideas and opinions: Events and lectures by top experts await you in Hall C2. This is the place to find out more about the industry's latest trends and developments.

For other interesting perspectives, look into the country specials and the product and company presentations in the bauma Forum.

Partner Country Indonesia: A rapidly growing market with potential

One of the most important global markets of the future will be a guest at bauma 2013: Indonesia. Between now and 2025, the fourth largest nation in the world plans to invest 465 billion US dollars in infrastructure projects alone.

Get to know this pulsating country better and profit from its dynamic nature. The Indonesian Pavilion, the accompanying lecture program and the "Indonesia Business Lounge" will revolve entirely around dialog and networking. It is the perfect place to get first-hand information about planned projects.

Co-initiators of the Partner Country Project are the German Engineering Federation (VDMA) and the Indonesian Ministry of Public Works.

Where, if not here: Get young people interested in the industry

THINK BIG! Jobs and careers at bauma 2013

The objective of THINK BIG is to generate interest in the industry for construction machinery and building-materials machines among young men and women.

That is why we have reserved Hall B0 for the duration of the fair to promote future professionals in this industry.

Young people can come here and personally experience high-tech machines at work and look over the shoulders of a team of mechanics in the process. Specialists will be on hand to answer questions about education and training.
